The Nickel Market is a new weekly artisan market for DTLA vendors featuring crafts, fashion, vintage, furniture, home goods, handmade leather, jewelry and live music, every Sunday from 9am - 2pm right next to the Historic Core Farmers Market at 5th and Spring. With the increased traffic and mix of creative vendors, The Nickel is already drawing new foot traffic and customers to local shops and restaurants in the heart of DTLA. Know anyone interested in becoming a vendor? Applications are now open.

Long awaited Clayton's Public House is close to completion inside the Spring Arcade Building. Owners Elizabeth Peterson and Tony Gower have revealed that on top of the 32 taps, wine, and cocktails, the pub will sling small bites from Larchmont chef Cody Diegel. Walk by today for a peek through the gold-leaf window signs and stained glass at the build out happening inside, and keep an eye out for an official opening date.

On October 18th, Historic Core BID Executive Director Blair Besten will join Stacy Miller, Samantha Martinez, and Veronica Perez to celebrate the women of City Hall and special honorees Amy Elaine Wakeland and Deborah Weintraub with a special ceremony at the Cathedral of St. Vibiana. Last year raised over $85,000 for Homeless

Healthcare LA. This year's event benefits Hope Street Family Center, a community benefit resource of California Hospital Medical Center providing in-home and on-site educational, health wellness, behavioral health, developmental, and social services that support children and families.

August 7th saw the inaugural DTLA Proud Festival take over Pershing Square for a day-long celebration of Downtown's thriving LGBT community. A sold out crowd packed the park alongside live performances, elected officials, local businesses, and community organizations. The Historic Core BID was proud to sponsor the event and looks forward to the continued growth of our diverse community.

Spire now mounted, the Wilshire Grand tops out the Downtown skyline and takes its place as the tallest structure west of the Mississippi. The 1,099-foot-tall project by Korean firm Hanjin and architects AC Martin will hold 400,000 square feet of office space, restaurants and shops, and a 900-room hotel. Get the details and see more photos in Downtown News' piece, here.

This fall, the Historic Core BID and Yelp are teaming up to show off the best of the Historic Core with two weeks of fun events and offers at businesses throughout the neighborhood. The deadline to participate in the series is 5th and Spring.
